

Rigid Borescopes

These rigid borescopes are an ideal method of remote visual inspection in a variety of industrial and commercial applications. With these instruments, it is possible to identify details and flaws as small as 0.001 in. With intense fiberoptic illumination (standard) and a variety of probes (direct, forward oblique, to-the-side or retrospective), magnifications and fields of view available, any type of cavity can be easily and effectively probed.

Source URL (retrieved on 01/31/2015 - 2:54am):

http://www.chem.info/news/2006/01/rigid-borescopes?qt-recent_content=0