

Merger

Safe Life

Safe Life Corp. and Triosyn Corp. have merged to create an advanced provider of technologies to protect against viral microbial threats. Backed by funding from VantagePoint Venture Partners and a number of other investors, the combined company will operate under the name of Safe Life. Triosyn is now a wholly owned subsidiary. Safe Life plans to accelerate its execution in air filtration, wound management, paints and coatings and the purification of fluids by delivering high-performance products that protect people and the environment from microbial contamination. Richard Jaffe is leading the Safe Life team as chairman and CEO. Safe Life is headquartered in San Diego, CA, with operations and engineering in Williston, VT, and research and development facilities in Montreal.
