

Thirsty for Knowledge?

Published on Chem.Info (<http://www.chem.info>)

Thirsty for Knowledge?

InterBev Focuses on Beverages

Top experts speaking on the hottest issues facing the beverage industry will be at InterBev October 23-25 at Sands Expo Center in Las Vegas. On the agenda are 15 sessions that will address such topics as benzene, RFID, water resource management, health and wellness, sweetener alternatives and fuel costs. InterBev is dedicated to the entire beverage industry including producers of soft drinks, beer, bottled water, juice, ready-to-drink tea, milk, sport drinks, wine, distilled spirits and powdered drinks as well as packaging and process engineers, production managers and R&D personnel. In addition to the educational sessions, there will be an exhibit featuring suppliers and distributors showcasing their latest equipment and products. For example, Mobiquity Route, a versatile route accounting solution from Versatile Systems, will be on display in Booth 345. Also, software demonstrations will be given in Booth 533 for Zontec's lab testing and quality control software — the same software used in dozens of PepsiAmericas and WisPak plants across North America.

Information: www.interbev.com

Source URL (retrieved on 01/31/2015 - 2:42pm):

<http://www.chem.info/news/2006/10/thirsty-knowledge>