

ERP and Accounting Software

The newest version of Enterprise 21 "Self Implementing Software" delivers fast and efficient project management from within the Enterprise 21 software application. The new SIS format is designed to lead a project team through a structured implementation process, while also facilitating a plan to deliver an on-time and on-budget go-live. Key concepts include a system-defined project template, system-directed implementation, and a fully integrated training system that provides online tutorials and exams for users based on module subject matter. Full source code for the integrated training system is supplied.
