

People News: Upper Management

Microfluidics, a wholly owned subsidiary of MFIC Corp., has appointed Michael C. Ferrara as chief executive officer. Ferrara, who will be responsible for overseeing daily company operations and will serve on the board of directors, was most recently president and CEO of X-Rite.

Schenck AccuRate Inc. has announced that Dirk Maroske and Neal Mueller will work together to fulfill the responsibilities formerly handled by recently retired CEO Greg Fream. Maroske is assuming the position of president, and Mueller is continuing as chief financial officer.

OPW Fueling Components has named Rahul Deshmukh as vice president and general manager of its OPW Dispensing Products division. He will be responsible for managing strategic direction, product development, and growth initiatives. He was previously with Daniel Measurement & Control Inc., a division of Emerson Electric Co.

Source URL (retrieved on 01/27/2015 - 11:42pm):

<http://www.chem.info/news/2008/01/people-news-upper-management>