Plex Systems, Inc., provider of the No. 1 rated manufacturing ERP software (<http://www.plex.com/index.asp>), Plex Online, today announced that it has added seven new customers and expanded its business with existing customers during the second quarter of 2010. In addition, the company held its annual user conference, opened a new Auburn Hills office, and continued to receive industry recognition.

"As manufacturing companies look for ways to operate leaner and maximize profitability, they continue to choose Plex Online's fully integrated (SaaS) model as an alternative to outdated on-premise software," said Mark Symonds, Plex Systems president and CEO.

Plex Systems' newest customers include:

Two existing customers expanded their use of Plex Online.

Growing Community and WorkforceThe company's ninth annual user conference, PowerPlex, was held May 17 - 19. The event was attended by more than 450 guests, the largest attendance to date and double the size of its 2009 guest list -- a testimony to the growing popularity of Plex Online.

Plex Systems opened a new office for its growing technical team with a formal ribbon-cutting ceremony in April. Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson, Auburn Hills Mayor James D. McDonald, and others joined in the ceremony.

Industry KudosDuring the second quarter of 2010, Plex Online was named a 2010 Best Product that Readers Trust, selected by readers of the Network Product Guide. (<http://www.networkproductsguide.com/>) Also, the launch of Plex Online at Phoenix Logistics (<http://www.phxlogistics.com>) was named Information Security Products Guide's 2010 Best Deployment Scenario in two categories: Enterprise Management and SaaS Business Applications.

Plex Systems leaders were honored as well. Mark Symonds, CEO and president, was named a finalist in the Ernst & Young Entrepreneur of the Year Awards and was elected to the board of directors of the Software & Information Industry Association.
