

BizSlate Releases Mobile ERP in Use at Las Vegas MAGIC Show

The Associated Press

MAGIC MARKET WEEK -- BizSlate Inc., today announced the release of its innovative Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) supply chain solution that enables small and mid-sized distributors to compete on the global stage. MAGIC exhibitor Miz Mooz, a New York based fashion footwear manufacturer and distributor, is using BizSlate on iPads for real-time order entry and inventory access live from the trade show floor. Cloud-based BizSlate ERP is available for immediate deployment, and revolutionizes the way businesses manage customers, vendors, orders, inventory, and logistics.

BizSlate's unique blend of extreme power and efficiency, together with ease-of-use, affordability, and mobility, enables smaller, wholesale and distribution companies to monitor and quickly diagnose operational issues. Key BizSlate advantages include: Full-featured enterprise capabilities at a fraction of the cost Reduction in operational costs and data entry Short learning curve vs. complexity of SAP, NetSuite, and other ERP solutions Access key information from anywhere, anytime via an easy-to-use web 2.0 interface Remote real-time access via laptops, iPad and Android tablets Order management from the trade show floor as you speak with customers Respond to customers faster, more accurately, and with confidence

"I am excited to use BizSlate at MAGIC from my iPad to access real-time inventory and enter customer orders into our live system, without the need to synchronize disparate applications multiple times per day," said Miz Mooz VP of Sales and Operations, Jeffrey Bart. "With BizSlate's fast sales order entry screens I can accurately sell available inventory and eliminate the common trade show practice of taking orders from customers with a pad and pencil. This relieves our team from the arduous and uncertain task of entering the orders weeks after the show, only to find that products that we thought we had available are not in stock!"

"We are delighted to see that Miz Mooz is leveraging BizSlate's real-time access from the MAGIC trade show floor," said Marc Kalman, BizSlate Founder and CEO. "They are a perfect example of how BizSlate empowers small and mid-sized companies to effectively compete on the global stage through sophisticated ERP efficiencies that were previously well beyond their means."

Pricing and Availability BizSlate ERP is ready for immediate deployment. Version 1.0 features include customer management, vendor management, order management, multi-product type product management, multiple warehouse and inventory management, and receiving orders from vendors.
