

Mobile App for Product Selection

Xylem Inc. has launched 'Xylect Mobile,' a new mobile app for its popular online 'Xylect' product selection tool. According to the company, the app:

- Provides customers with quick and easy access to detailed product information from Xylem's Flygt brand, from any location, simply using a smartphone.
- Was designed to allow customers to input their specific requirements and search for the ideal Xylem product to meet their particular needs.
- Is available in 18 languages and allows customers to search by application or product type, or by inputting required flow and head on iPhone and iPad devices.
- Allows customers to identify all available spare parts for a product, by inputting the serial number of the product that requires parts.
- Is available free for download at the iTunes App Store.
