

Free Lifetime Thermal Imaging Calibrations

Palmer Wahl Instrumentation introduces another first in thermal imaging — free annual calibrations — now included with the purchase of a Heat Spy Inspector Series thermal imaging camera. According to the company, the Heat Spy Inspector calibration also offers:

- The convenience of returning your imager to the company annually for free recalibration and firmware updates for the life of your Heat Spy.
- The ability to maintain the calibration of your instrument to ensure consistent, quality temperature readings at all times.
- Quick calibration turnaround times to minimize any interruption to your business, while allowing you to maintain the measurement integrity required for ISO certification.
- Calibration using NIST-traceable equipment with the availability of NIST-certified calibrations.
- Firmware updates, which are included with all calibrations, to ensure your Heat Spy always has the latest features and capabilities.
