

Kdf Fluid Treatment

KDF® antimicrobial process media consist of EPA-approved copper alloys. According to the company, the EPA approved the product's antimicrobial registration after confirmation that its copper alloys eliminated more than 99.9 percent of bacterial contamination within 2 hours of exposure.

Antimicrobial process media filtration

Water-soluble dissolved metals

The ability to control bacteria, algae, fungi and scale buildup

A composition of copper and zinc, plus EPA approval for an antimicrobial design
||