

INNOTRAK Report Management System

InnoCal® introduces INNOTRAK™, a new online report management system to help customers better track their instruments through the calibration and repair process. INNOTRAK™ assists customers by enabling them to access their calibration reports at any time online. For those preparing for audits, this takes one more research task off their list, and it also eliminates the need for paper records. The system offers the benefits of searching by information displayed on the instrument, such as asset number, serial number, or bar code. No need to look up or remember service account numbers. For added convenience, customers can choose how the report is displayed or view a summary.
