

Transportation Management System

Prophesy OnDemand web-based solution is a fully automated, online dispatch system available on a "pay as you go" basis from Accellos. It is an easy-to-use transportation management system (TMS) that requires an Internet connection and minimal setup, with no expensive hardware or software to purchase or upgrade.

- Gives customers access to the information they need directly from the owner's website
- Through the web-based interface, customers can enter their shipments, track them through to completion and even pick up images of their PODs, all without picking up a telephone
